The investment objective of the fund is to generate value from a worldwide, diversified portfolio of equity.

The investment strategy is based on a value-style fundamental review of company performance. Risk diversification and liquidity are always fully considered.

Characteristics

The fund is suitable for long-term oriented investors, who prefer to invest in a globally diversified equity portfolio and would like to delegate the tactical asset allocation to the fund manager.

Investment Manager's Comment

The trends of the year as a whole continued to the end of it and our value strategy continued to lag behind the market. However, after two years of total dominance of US equities combined with record-high valuations and exuberant optimism, the trend is likely to reverse soon. Away from the hot US stocks, we are finding more and more value, as an astonishing number of individual stocks have fallen in 2024, despite it being a positive year for the stock market. We bought Nestlé shares in December. The once much-loved defensive stock is now considered boring and obsolete. Little has changed in the company's business, but investors now appreciate it less. We also bought BB Seguridade, a leading insurance group in Brazil whose business is doing well, but whose valuation is suffering from the country discount. The company pays a 7.6% dividend and is buying back shares.
