Investment Objective and Investment Policy

The objective of the fund is to achieve a reasonable and inflation-resistant return over the medium to long term through a broadly diversified portfolio of equities, commodities, bonds and money market instruments. To reduce risk, large individual bets are avoided and the portfolio is regularly rebalanced.

Characteristics

The fund is suitable for investors with a medium risk tolerance who are looking for long-term participation in the equity and commodity markets as well as inflation protection through real assets.

Investment Manager's Comment

The fund held up well in March thanks to a defensive stock selection and its gold position. We bought new shares in Novo-Nordisk, Medpace and Ross Stores. All of them are quality stocks at a fair price. In the case of Novo-Nordisk we consider the market to be overly nervous. The only uncertainty is whether the next few years will be fantastic or just very good in terms of earnings growth. We sold Centerra Gold because we had to revise the fair value downwards due to excessive investment plans. We also bought a small position in short-dated Japanese government bonds for the first time. Like the Swiss franc, the yen unfortunately does not offer a positive real interest rate after inflation. However, as traditional "funding currencies", the yen and franc should prove to be a safe haven in stormy times, as people then convert their considerable net savings abroad back into their home currencies.
